2011 review and news for 2012!

Great achievements and accomplishments have marked the history Nucleo in 2011, including the acquisition of our own headquarters. It was a year full of challenges in which we feel realized for conducting everything in a positive way. Nucleo team is always committed to improving its services and to its goal: grow and offer the best solutions to our customers. Nucleo has gone through a deep transformation in recent years, expanding its portfolio of services and solutions. With this spirit, we begin a new journey in 2012. This will be a great year for Brazil and consequently for all of us!

Movie Suggestion

Name: "Trust"
Country: USA

Direction: David Schwimmer
Drama/106 min.

Year: 2011

Commented Synopsis: After a long reflection, Will (Clive Owen) and Lynn (Catherine Keener) decide to give their daughter Annie (Liana Liberato) a computer. The couple is convinced of raising their three children in an open and healthy environment and that they could trust Annie. When Annie makes a new friend on the internet, a 16 year old boy named Charlie (Chris Henry Coffey) who she met in a relationship chat, Will and Lynn gave her all the attention. They sat with her daughter, talked about it and saw the photos that the boy sent to her. Without his parents acknowledge, she accepts his invitation for a meeting, but her first moment surprise is just the beginning of a nightmare that will forever mark her and her family life. "A strong movie with no happy ending, but it portrays the world virtual reality of the social networks dangers. The movie is a warning message for parents and an educational example for children". Marcela Floriano
