Tragedy in Santa Maria

At dawn on the January 27, 2013, a fire supposedly started by a hand-held signal flare used by the band "Gurizada Fandangueira" during its show on Kiss nightclub in Santa Maria city, Rio Grande do Sul state, caused one of the greatest tragedies in the history of Brazil. More than 239 people died. As Brazil mourns the death of so many young people, beyond the pain of the families, the feeling is that this tragedy could have been avoided. The fire in Santa Maria brings up a series of questions about the security of places intended for events. "This tragic episode will be studied for a long time and a lot of lessons should be taken to help us make the establishments more secure, especially during events," said the security expert, Igor Pipolo, director at Nucleo and author of the book "Security in Events New Perspectives and Challenges for Production". While authorities investigate those responsible for the deaths, check out Pipolo comments during an interview for Hora News, TV Record (www.nucleoconsult.com.br/index.php/tragedia-de-santa-maria/).

Information Security

Edison Fontes, partner at Nucleo, was one of the Fonte magazine highlights at the December 2012 publication from the Prodemge Information Technology Company of Minas Gerais State. In this edition the Fonte magazine resumes the reflection on Information Security, an issue that is everyday more relevant in the network society context. Organizations must be structured to protect their information, preserve the informational legacy, educate employees and ensure business continuity. Access the link www.prodemge.gov.br/revista-fonte, download the free edition of "Information Security Network" and check out the exclusive interview with Edison Fontes on page 17 and the article "The user makes the difference in information security" on page 54.

Security Library

To assist the security professionals' development, Tacito Augusto Silva Leite, former partner at Nucleo and currently CEO at Indra in Brazil, launched the website www.bibliotecadeseguranca.com.br, with the objective to spread a printed/digital collection related to security topic. It is possible to find references to books, videos, theses, dissertations, monographs, standards, reference works, publications, periodicals, etc. There are no advertisements and it is not necessary to create an account or provide an e-mail. The user enters the site, searches and exits freely. There is a search tool that performs the search on different parameters to assist the user. Soon, the content will be available in English and Spanish, expanding the website public.

Movie Suggestion

Name: "Jack Reacher"
Country: USA

Direction: Christopher McQuarrie
Action, 130 min.

Year: 2013

Commented Synopsis: A brutal crime was committed against five people at the same time and an elite sniper, war veteran, was indicted without chance of defense for the murders. During interrogation, he only says the name of Jack Reacher (Tom Cruise), a former combatant with numerous awards, which was reported missing to the government and authorities. Suddenly, he appears out of nowhere and decides to investigate on his own the mystery. His theory is that there is a link between the deaths and the real murder has other interests and seeks to distract attention. Jack doesn't give up and has a special way to make his justice, no matter what. "Many times it seems obvious that not everything is true. In this well-armed thriller it becomes impossible to predict the end during the movie. Good movies always make us think about many new things. I recommend it". Igor Pipolo
